FROM YOUR EDITOR

DEADLINE for information for the July Newsletter is June 15. However, because of our move across the state in mid-June, and the Reunion at the end of the month, you will not receive your July issue until August. My computer will be "down" (and I probably will be, too) for about a month. After June 15th send any communications to me at Route 3, Box 53, Tomah, WI 54660.

Response to the letter about the 1986 trip to England has been great! Mr. Bolles of Family Society Tours assured me this week that with the interest shown, he will make efforts during his next trip there to set up definite appointments in the Evesham/Eckington area with local individuals and organizations that will welcome Soule Kindred.

Get your reservation in early for the Minneapolis Reunion this year. Ben George assures me that all the April snow will be gone and the weather will be great. It should be a memorable get-together.

We will have several articles in future Newsletters on family groups-- SOLES family in Alabama, SOWL family in Nebraska, SOULES in Middleboro, MA-- and a continuation of Betty Harris' The Story of George Soule.

President's Corner...

News from Minneapolis...

Dear Soule Cousins:

Save for a multitude of loose-ends and refinements of details, "the hay is in the barn" on the planning and development of our 1985 SOULE KINDRED REUNION in the Twin Cities area.

Retired Cousins (and the soon to be) were heard and their needs and wishes honored through careful cost consciousness and comparisons. Savings have been achieved for all who are looking ahead to the 1986 pilgrimage to England without sacrificing quality of offerings.

Our motel of choice, EXEL INN, is the best all-around value in the area. Drivers can approach from either east or west bound travel on Interstate 494. Use the 2-A, 24th Avenue South exit.

Those flying-in are advised that baggage claims on the terminal building lower level has hotel-motel phone-banks located near Doors 3 and Doors 4. Pick up Phone #6 at one of these colorful display boards and ask that the van be sent to pick you up. Exit the terminal through Doors 3, cross two streets and wait in a shelter. The van is two-tone blue with a yellow EXCEL decal.

Over a dozen regularly scheduled airlines serve Mpl's.-St. Paul, including Peoples Express. Many offer very attractive "Q" fares or their equivalent.

The State of Minnesota will send you a free tourist information package upon request. Simply place a toll-free call to them at 1-800-328-1461.

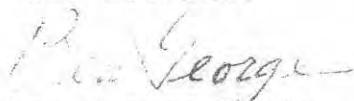

Summers here can be as hot as our winters are cold and thunderstorms are visited upon us. It serves to produce the "riot of greenery" which greets the eye throughout the state.

George Soule asks that you bring slides and sharp photographs taken at past reunions which can be made into slides. He wants to fill a drum or two of such slides for showings. Those unable to attend who possess such photos and slides are urged to send them to George, who can be trusted to return them to you. Please cooperate in this endeavor to collect and preserve a photographic history of our annual gatherings.

Janie and I welcome you all to our corner of the world. You are family and we are very proud and happy to host you.

This 1985 reunion is respectfully dedicated to the memory of our Membership Secretary, AVIS HANER.

Your servant,

Ben George Soule, President
SOULE KINDRED IN AMERICA, Inc.

... For your considerations, Cousin Jim Soule reports an offer of a flat rate cost of $51.50 per day for up to four people in a room from The THUNDERBIRD Motel, (612) 854-3411.

Your visit to Murphy's Landing takes you into a lifestyle long past and gives you a firsthand opportunity to share the joys and hardships of Minnesota's early settlers. The varied and numerous ethnic backgrounds of those settlers come to life here in the homes, crafts and customs demonstrating that old world connection.

History comes alive in the 1843 cabin of Oliver Faribault when the colorfully dressed trader invites you to feel the quality of fine fur pelts. As you make your way through space and time, you see the transition from the 1850 subsistence farm built of timbers to the 1880 farm with its lofty red barn and trim picket fence.

Historic Fort Snelling

Built on a commanding bluff above the Mississippi and Minnesota rivers more than 150 years ago, Fort Snelling was for over thirty years the guardian of American interests in the upper Northwest. It was the center of government policy and administration in the years before Minnesota statehood and a haven for explorers and other travelers who sought society within its limestone walls. Now restored to its original appearance and staffed with costumed guides, the fort again welcomes visitors who come to learn about life in Minnesota in the early years of the nineteenth century.

In beautiful Minnehaha Park set amid 144 acres of rolling woodland in south Minneapolis, are the majestic, cascading Minnehaha Falls right, immortalized by Longfellow in his famous poem "Song of Hiawatha". Flowing from its source at Lake Minnetonka, the crystal creek tumbles 53 feet in a powerful arch and joins the Mississippi River through a wooded gorge below the falls. Providing an excellent venue for various festivals, Minnehaha Park is the scene of the Swedish Festival's Svenskarnas Dag top left, held in June.

FAMILY HISTORIAN'S REPORT

Here's a bit on EDWARD SOWL, #483 pp. 210-211, Mayflower Families-3. A search of the Tolland CT land records and our files has produced two new facts about this man. Joanna (Baker?) Sowl died before 1764, since the Marriage Intentions Records of Middleboro (still unpublished) note Joanna Benson to Edward Sowl 1764. Thus, the four youngest children, all daughters, are by his second wife, Joanna Benson. The land records show that Edward Sowl of Scituate RI on 7 March 1772 bought 60 acres in Tolland. But an astonishing record [Book 6:355] quoted: "To Selectmen of Tolland to let you know that Edward Sowl of Tolland is a member of a Baptist Church in Scituate under the pastors care of Nathan Young, Elder. To let you know that he is wholesome Order [sic] and in full fellowship with the church." Town Clerk, Scituate RI, recorded 30 March 1774. So now we know why no church records from the various towns wherein he lived contain any mention of his family. A search for the Scituate Baptist records will be made.

Two land records shed some light of Edward's son William. On 28 May 1782, he of Wilbraham bought land from James Hammond; on 3 Feb 1783 he, of Tolland, sold it back to James Hammond of Wilbraham.

Shortly before his death Feb. 14, 1985 [See obit., p. 67], William Soule of American Fork, Utah, had written your historian. He sent information regarding William Soule (#443, p.196, MF-3). There had been a request to find the correct parentage of William Soule, "The Loyalist" of Alburgh, VT. (#443). Most historians have been convinced that William was the son of Deacon Ezekiel and Hannah (Delano) Soule, born at Duxbury, MA 4 Sep 1738, died at Alburgh, VT 23 Mar 1811. [From town records of Woolwich ME]

Recently a gravestone was discovered in Harpswell, Cumberland Co., Maine. On it is the inscription: William Soule, son of Deacon Ezekiel and Mrs. Hannah Soule, of Duxborough, Died July 5, 1754, in his 17th year [birth year 1737/38] This would refute earlier published information about the parentage of William the Loyalist.

The parentage of William the Loyalist is indeed a mystery at this time. We would welcome further research by any descendants, or someone with access to Vermont records, to try to find the ancestors.

When communicating with your Historian (or any of the officers), please include your mailing address on the letter itself. Sometimes letters are separated from envelopes, with envelopes discarded, and it then becomes a difficult task to respond. Please help us!

Five from Supply garner in 12th Air Force awards here

by SSgt. Ed Pierce
Public Affairs Division
They said it couldn't be done, but it has.

Five members of the 832nd Supply Squadron walked away with awards in the 12th Air Force Outstanding Supply Personnel competition for 1984.

"This is an unprecedented achievement within 12th AF and is indicative of the caliber of people assigned to our squadron," said Lt. Col. Jeffrey L. Beran, Supply's commander.

The award winners will now advance on to the Tactical Air Command competition later this year.

Maj. Charles K. Yard was honored as 12th AF senior military supply manager. The chief of Supply's management and procedures branch, Major Yard attributes his success to teamwork.

"One person doesn't win an award," he said. "We have outstanding people working in every branch of this squadron and I owe it all to them."

Second Lt. Steven D. Knode, Supply's customer support branch chief, was honored by 12th AF as junior supply military manager of the year. The former Air Force enlisted member says his duty here with Supply is a personal challenge.

"The satisfaction of winning such an award is knowing that parts and supplies are getting to units to keep the mission going," he said.

George Stratos, Supply's systems branch chief, received the 12th AF junior civilian supply manager honors.

A retired chief master sergeant, Mr. Stratos has worked for Supply here since 1974.

He attributes his award to "hard work and good supervision."

Two other award recipients were Rodney Bowden, 12th AF supply civilian supervisor of the year and MSGt. Jay P. Jerome, who claimed 12th AF military superintendent of the year honors. Both were unavailable for comment.

"Job satisfaction is what it's all about," Major Yard explained.

"These awards recognize improvement in our squadron and the long hours and work we perform here," he said.

"This recognition has strengthened the 832nd Supply Squadron and wherever you look in our squadron, the esprit de corps is very evident," he added.

Colonel Beran echoed those sentiments.

"These awards signify noteworthy achievements and can only lead to bigger and better things for our squadron," he noted.

Party honors Mrs. Soule

Mrs. Alberta N. Soule, widow of Albert F. Soule, celebrated her 85th birthday at a party held in her honor Saturday at the Christian Education Building of the First Congregational Church at the Green.

The party was given by her family, Mr. and Mrs. William Bigelow, of Lakeville, Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Soule, Jr., of Middleboro, Mrs. Katherine Young of Greenville, S.C., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Soule of Westboro, and Mr. and Mrs. George Soule of Middleboro, all of whom were present.

More than 100 guests were present including Mrs. Soule's sister, Mrs. Mildred Badger of Middleboro, and brother-in-law Ralph M. Soule and wife of Pocasset. A sister-in-law, Mrs. Emma Perkins, of Island Terrace Nursing Home, was unable to be present, but also sent greetings. Several of Mrs. Soule's 27 grandchildren were present, and also many of her 25 great-grandchildren. She enjoyed greeting many other relatives and friends including a former pastor, Rev. James Williams of Harwich. Guests arrived from Springfield, Vt., Westboro, Middleboro, Lakeville, Assonet, Wareham, Pocasset, Hanover, Hanson, Harwich, Easton, Plymouth, Seekonk, R.I., Duxbury, Medford, Bridgewater and Greenville, S.C.

Mrs. Soule received many flowers, cards and telephone calls expressing good wishes.

The Rev. Robert Pardon of the First Congregational Church offered a prayer. Delicious refreshments were served by the Putna Women of the Green. A love birthday cake decorated with pink roses was cut by Mrs. Soule assisted by granddaughter Mrs. Martha Meets, and daughter-in-law Mrs. Janet Soule. The cake was served by granddaughters Mrs. Carol Carve and Miss Kimberly Soule and Miss Phoebe Young of Greenville, S.C., who was in charge of the guest book. The youngest granddaughter, Miss Sarah Soule, distributed candies to the guests following the refreshments.

Mrs. Soule prepared some photo albums and snapshots reminiscent of the past and present years. Mrs. Katherine Young welcomed the guests and spoke a few words of tribute to her mother, Mrs. Soule.

Mrs. Soule, who was born on July 8, 1898, has been a lifelong resident of Middleboro, and a member of the First Congregational Church at the Green for 68 years.

Factions vow more battles about abortion

By The Associated Press

The 12th anniversary of the Supreme Court decision that legalized abortion passed without the violence some had feared, but with the certainty that both sides would be fighting through another year and demonstrating again next year.

"However sweet our victory now, the only approach we can have now is endless pressure . . . so stay with us," Democratic state Rep. Jolene Unsoeld told 100 abortion rights advocates in Olympia, Wash.

"We're going to continue to take a stand," Nelson Cooney of Project Life told 350 shivering marchers at the South Carolina Statehouse on Tuesday, anniversary of the 1973 court ruling legalizing abortion.

The biggest demonstration was in the nation's capital, where 71,000 people marched to the Supreme Court after hearing President Reagan support their cause. But supporters and foes of legalized abortion pressed their case in dozens of state capitals, at family planning clinics and churches from Arizona to Maine and Oregon to Alabama.

"Reagan and Bush won so big partly because of their pro-life stand and Mondale and Ferraro lost so badly precisely because of their pro-abortion position," Dr. J.C. Wilke, president of the National Right To Life Committee, said in Washington.

"We hope that this continuing shift in public opinion will be evident to our elected officials," he said.

At many clinics there was tight security because of bombings at 24 such facilities in the last year, and fears that the anniversary would invite more.

In an address by telephone to the Washington rally, Reagan declared: "We cannot condone the threatening or taking of human life to protest the taking of human life by way of abortion."

"I am convinced that our response to the 12th anniversary . . . must be to re-dedicate ourselves to ending the terrible national tragedy of abortion."

Soule to Get Award Today

MONTPELIER — Sen. Sallie D. Soule, D-Chittenden, will be presented with an award recognizing her as one of the ten outstanding state legislators in the United States by the Assembly of Governmental Employees on Tuesday, at the State House.

Soule was nominated for the award by the Vermont State Employees' Association, the union representing approximately 5,500 state employees. The VSEA is affiliated with AGE, a national federation of 24 state and local employee organizations.

Representatives of the VSEA will be at the State House in order to present the award to Soule.

In nominating Soule, the VSEA Legislative Committee noted her work on behalf of state employees and state programs as a member of the Senate Government Operations and Appropriations Committees.

FAMILY DATA FORM

If you haven't filled out a Family Data Form for every generation of your Soule ancestry, please do so NOW! As this information is received, it is entered into the data base kept by our historian, Dr. Terry, and will be compiled into future indexes of Soule Kindred records. The preliminary index which Dr. Terry has compiled has already been an invaluable aid to linking generations.

To show how we can trace families using the index, we are printing the following information sent in by new member Mabel Soules Walter. The underlined names are not in the preliminary index; the information for those that are listed is given in brackets.

My father, Hudson Myron Soules born in Clarendon, New York, March 7, 1875 was married to Anna Mabel Kinning. They had three daughters, Dorothy Laura, Margaret Lucille and Mabel Harriett. Margaret Soules Bulau was a member of the Soule Kindred up to her death on Jan. 15, 1982. Dorothy Laura died in Oct. 1909.

I, Mabel (Soules) Walter am the third daughter of Hudson Myron Soules. I was born May 5, 1913. Married Emil F. Walter Nov. 24, 1937. We had two sons and a daughter, Donald Hudson, Leland Frederick, and Cheryl Anna.

My paternal grandfather, Orin Stanley Soules was born Nov. 7, 1841 in Genesee Co. NY. He married Acenith Snyder. They had three sons and one daughter: Leonard Stanley, George, Hudson Myron and Hattie Ellen.

Paternal great-grandfather was Henry Soles [#3004, Henry Soule (parent #1540)], born Sept. 3, 1816 in Taghanic, Columbia Co., NY. He married Olive Stebbins of Byron, NY. [This data is in index]

Paternal great-great-grandfather, Ebenezer Soles [#1540, Ebenezer Soule (father unknown)] born Dec. 23, 1777 in Columbia Co., NY. He married Sarah Oakley, born in 1780 in Columbia Co., NY.

Use the form on the next page and send your information in NOW to:

DENISON

On Friday, October 5, 1984, Miss Nancy Ann Cabral, daughter of Mr. Joseph Cabral, 1475 North Main Street, Fall River, and the late Irene Albernaz Cabral, was married to David Thomas Denison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter B. Denison, 356 Kaufman Road, Somerset. The four p.m. double ring ceremony was performed by Reverend John Oliveira in Espirito Santo Church, Fall River. Mrs. Donna Fournier, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Eric Thomas Denison, brother of the groom, best man. The bridesmaids were Ms. Annette Couture, Ms. Deborah Raymond and Ms. Kathleen Broadbent. The ushers included Walter Costa, David Hambly and Antonio Fournier. Michael Fournier and Anthony Costa were ringbearers. After receiving guests at the Hawthorne Country Club, North Dartmouth, Mr. and Mrs. Denison left on a wedding trip to Montreal, Canada. Upon their return they will make their home in Fall River.

A CELEBRATION

A Family Reunion and birthday celebration was held August 3, 1984 at the home of Gertrude Soule Lewis, the event being Gertrude's 81st birthday. Her seven children, nine of eleven grandchildren, five great grandchildren, a step-granddaughter, foster grandson and several friends attended; they came from eight western states. Her two grandchildren unable to attend were a grandson living in Western Australia (although he called her on the phone to wish her a happy birthday) and the other grandson who was touring England at the time.

It is with deep sadness I inform you that my wife, Helyn, passed away on the 23rd of May, 1984, after a long illness.

One of the happy events in her recent years was meeting many of her Soule Kindred during the General Congress held at Plymouth in 1981, and at the lovely clambake in Duxbury. She was looking forward to joining her Soule Kindred again during the last General Congress in 1984, but it wasn't meant to be. I am somewhat consoled by my memory of those happy times with her Soule Kindred. My choice of her final resting place is in Tiverton, RI, near the Little Compton town line, where most of her Pilgrim ancestors are buried. She possesses Mayflower certifications to seven of the passengers, with a number of various intermediate lines. We both continued working on her ancestry until she became too ill. She once expressed a wish that when she died she wanted to be dressed in her Pilgrim dress which she made by herself. She wore it at local Mayflower gatherings-- it was a beautiful dress with a white collar and bonnet. She had her wish, and as a beautiful person, and a true Pilgrim, it was most befitting.

SOME WISCONSIN SOWLS

[Ed. note: At the 1981 Plymouth Reunion I met Frank and Juliette Sowl of Madison, WI, and became aware of the existence of a SOWL family in this state. There seemed to be no connection with my SOWLE family, but I promised to keep searching. Finally, in checking the Preliminary Index I found a link from Elijah Sowl to William Sowl, and from there back to George. The lineage is: George¹, Nathaniel², Sylvanus³ SOWLE, William⁴, Edward⁵ SOWL, William⁶, Elijah⁷, William⁸, David A.⁹, Franklin Charles¹⁰, Frank Junior¹¹, Frank Keith¹², Alexander Frederick Sowl¹³. The story which follows was written by Juliette, wife of Frank Junior Sowl.]

Our known history begins with Elijah and Lucinda Sowl, married in MA in 1809. They emigrated west, to Geauga County, Ohio in 1819, acquiring 100 acres there. Lucinda's father, Revolutionary Soldier John Smith, and other family members came earlier, about 1817. (Land comprising Geauga County was claimed by Connecticut under a charter of 1662.) For reasons unknown, Elijah and Lucinda again emigrated, this time to Lafayette County, WI in 1842, again becoming pioneers. Of this was said, "As early as 1836 nearly all the land in the Town of Argyle (in Lafayette Co.) was entered by a company of eastern capitalists, organized for this purpose. It disposed of its title to farmers emigrating west. Owing to inducements offered by this company, in 1839, a settlement formed on Mud Branch, 2 miles from Argyle. Among them were Robert Threadgold and Elijah Sowl. Here, along the bottoms and among the hills of Mud Branch, these hardy pioneers erected cabins and cultivated farms."

The children of Elijah and Lucinda were John (b. 1809), Lyman (b. 1817), Caroline (b. 1818), William (b. 1820), Marilla (b. 1827), Joseph (b. 1832 d. 1848). All these emigrated with their parents. William, of our line, had married Frances Barrows (b. 1820), in Cleveland, Ohio in 1840. Their first son, Charles Shumway, was born along the route in IL in 1841. The others were born in Argyle. James (b. 1843) and Lucius (b. 1845d) both died in the Civil War. Mary (b. 1846), Luisa (b. 1849), David (b. 1850), Allen (b. 1854), and George (b. 1856) of the 13 born to William and Frances lived and left survivors.

Wisconsin became a state in 1848; however, the southeastern part of Lafayette County was slow in settling because of the number of Indians there who found it a paradise for trapping, hunting and fishing. After 1851 the advantages of Argyle became better known to immigrants and vast numbers of Norwegians flocked into it, opening up small farms together. Argyle thrived until the panic of 1857.

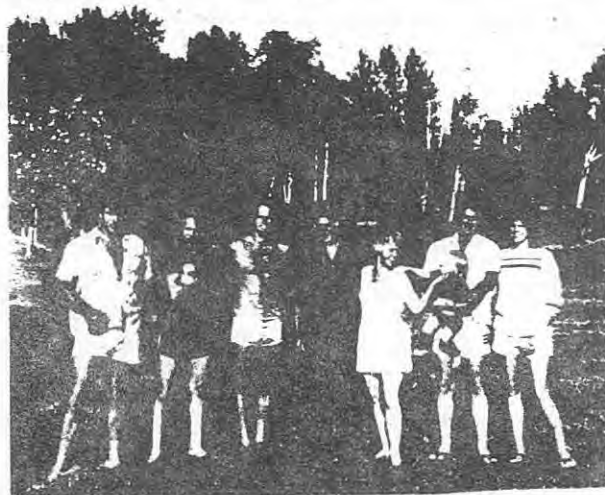

From "Early Records of Town of Argyle", we read that William Sowl, a Justice of the Peace, owned 80 improved acres, 40 unimproved, with a cash value of $800. His other assets were $75 in implements, 1 horse, 7 milk cows, 2 oxen, 27 sheep, 9 swine (value $150), 150 bushels wheat, 100 of Indian corn and 300 oats. In the obituary he was described as a faithful Christian, a good citizen, a kind husband and parent.

A pioneer at heart, William had also acquired a farm in South Dakota and requested to be buried there. His son David later settled in South Dakota also, but HIS son Franklin Charles remained in Argyle to become a cheesemaker and farmer. Of HIS sons, Frank Junior, this research became a reality because I married him. In true spirit of the pioneer, we bought a farm in 1976 on Madeline Island in Lake Superior and it was there last August 19 that the last SOWL reunion was held. (We raised 4 sons in Monona.) There were 72 Sowls at the reunion (25 from David's line), coming from Georgia, Mississippi, California, Illinois, North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Elijah and Lucinda, along with many other family members, are buried in a unique little family cemetery on top of a hill in Mud Branch. Twice before part of our reunions has been a pilgrimage to this cemetery, and plans have been made for another on the 3rd Saturday in August, 1985, at Argyle.

My ancestor is Susannah Soule, daughter of Pilgrim George Soule (though not proved to the satisfaction of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants). This is my line: George West⁵ (1769-1853) [Francis West⁴, William West³, Susannah Soule², George Soule¹]. The gap is with George⁵. I believe that he was born in RI; however he is buried in western NY. I would like to correspond with anyone who traces to this line.

I would be interested to see anything on Soule Family of Pompey, NY circa 1825-1850. [Do we have any readers that can supply us with data? Send to editor and it will be published.]

From Charlou Dolan, 711 West Eleventh, Rolla, MO 65401

I am looking for the birthplace and parents of Elizabeth SOULE, b. ca. 1783, m. ca 1800, d. 20 May 1829 prob. Butternuts, Otsego Co., NY, buried in South New Berlin, Chenango Co., NY. Her husband was Joseph Bassett, b. 13 Dec 1778, Coventry, RI, moved to Otsego about 1797, d. there 14 Dec 1862; his second wife was Eliza Wightman, but Elizabeth Soule was the mother of his children.

One clue we have as to her parents is from the Soule book by Ridlon, p. 1098, which says that her children are listed as some of the legal heirs of John Soule, who died 22 Nov 1850 in Greene, Chenango Co., NY. He died childless, so all the legal heirs were listed. Other than his wife Abigail, the only heirs listed were Hannah Soule, his sister, who was the second wife of Erastus Burr (she is buried in the same cemetery as Elizabeth, and her birth date is c. 1786, d. 31 Oct 1867), and the children of his deceased sister Elizabeth. Census information indicates that John & Hannah were born in RI, possibly to a D. Soule.

March 7, 1985 THE LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS, DAMARISCOTTA, MAINE

Although she is not optimistic, Waldoboro native and historian Esther Gross would like to see the town grow, especially in the village, and said new businesses need to be encouraged.

Esther Gross laments loss of Old Waldoboro

by Pam Derringer

Waldoboro historian Esther Gross would like to see the town grow, but she isn't optimistic.

"Older townspeople don't support new things and they complain if new people try to," she said. "It's that old German strain: they want to keep things as they were and keep them cheap," she said.

Shopping trips to Damariscotta, Rockland or Augusta "are a ritual with some people," she added. "They look forward to going to Rockland once a week; it's almost like a holiday," she said.

Gross said she would like to see growth, particularly in the village, but fears that expansion, if it occurs, will be out on Route One.

She lamented the loss of the old Sprout Block building and wondered why no one has considered a parking garage to reduce congestion in the village.

"I don't think the town is going to grow much; I would like to see it come back," she said.

Except for 14 years living out-of-state when her husband, Elroy Gross, was transferred within the Department of Agriculture, Esther has lived in Waldoboro all her life.

She was born in 1904 in the West Waldoboro farmhouse built by her grandfather; its fields rolled down to the Medomak River, where schooners laden with coal and other cargoes sailed by when her father was growing up.

Enthusiastic about writing in school, Gross did a lot of genealogical research later in life and ended up with the task of compiling Waldoboro's Bicentennial history almost by accident.

"I was on a committee and found someone in Massachusetts who had done a similar book. Having convinced everyone it was a good idea, the next job was to find someone to do it — and it landed in my lap," she smiled.

The project lasted the better part of a year and "was a lot of fun, really," with a lot of people pitching in and others lending pictures, she said.

Then in 1981, Mrs. Gross finished a 63-page historical account of rural life in Waldoboro in the early 1900's called, "Father's Farm," and had it printed last year.

Her next project may be a history of Hungry Island between Back Cove and Bremen and its families, she said.

Book review

'Father's Farm' tells of by-gone West Waldoboro

by Pam Derringer

Imagine living on a Waldoboro farm today with no phone, no television or radio and no transportation.

The isolation of rural life in the early 1900's is very real in "Father's Farm," a local history published last year by Waldoboro native Esther Soule Gross.

Esther was born in 1904 on a 75-acre West Waldoboro farm with fields that rolled down to the Medomak River; the land had been in her family for five generations.

Travel by a team of horses was slow, back then, with an eight to 10 mile journey taking about two hours. Families with oxen walked where they needed to go; others near the river rowed, she wrote.

Without snowplows, roads were shoveled clear two or three days after a heavy snowstorm by large crews of men, she said.

A doctor making house calls would travel as far as he could on horseback, then leave the animal in the nearest barn and proceed on snowshoes, Gross said.

Automobiles were left on blocks for the winter, she added.

Christmas was celebrated by the family at home; it was too far away to join the grandparents in North Waldoboro she said.

Esther got her first store-bought coat at the age of 11, and took her first train ride to Rockland to get it.

Isolation forced people to be independent; Esther's family grew most of its own food and slaughtered a hog before the holidays as the staple of its winter meat supply, she said. Using eggs and cream to make ice cream except for special occasions was considered "extravagant," she added.

Home remedies and first aid were essential since a doctor couldn't be summoned for at least an hour or two.

When Esther's uncle cut his foot with an ax while chopping wood, her grandmother cleaned the wound and sewed it up with white silk thread, she said.

Pleasures were simple, too. Neighbors dropped in for an afternoon visit and friends or relatives would stay for dinner. The church was a gathering spot with Sunday services and mid-week prayer meetings, Christmas and Easter concerts, strawberry festivals and baked-bean suppers.

Several small stores had public halls on the second floor where public dances were given, but they were somewhat frowned upon because they tended to bring together a rowdy element, she wrote.

Youngsters went skating and sliding in the winter, and other outdoor activities in the summer. There were parties; some families had a piano, organ or Victrola and records.

"It wasn't dull, really; we knew no other way," she wrote.

The one-room schoolhouse was just down the road. There was a big woodstove in the middle that kept the children warm except in the coldest weather, when they were allowed to gather around it to study and recite. The building was constructed before 1885 and burned in 1917.

Gross singled out the late Agnes Creamer as one of her best teachers.

Miss Creamer promoted better hygiene by abolishing the common water bucket, making students bring their own cups and encouraging them to brush their teeth. She obtained a piano, built bookshelves, raised money for a school library and took students on bird walks.

"Some of the parents thought that school work should be confined to the three R's, as in their own day, and frowned upon Miss Agnes' innovations as a waste of time but they were wrong," Gross concluded.

"Recent issues of the Newsletter (1984) have given considerable coverage to the "West" connection. Since there were two Francis Wests in Duxbury at about the same time period, much confusion has arisen as to possible Mayflower ancestry. I feel our readers should be cautioned on jumping to conclusions when the name WEST appears." [This refers to Susanna^e Soule (#5, p.9 in MF-33) who married Francis Mast/West.]

He also notes that the latest edition of Ancestral Roots (Vol.5) shows that the SOUTHWORTH royal line is solid except for documentary proof that Edward of Leyden was the same person as the royal descendant.

SOULE CUP PLATES

Bettie Soule writes that the sale of Soule Kindred cup plates has been going well. One grandmother ordered five for her five Soule granddaughters. Another woman was so taken with the one she had purchased that she ordered several more.

The design of the Soule Kindred cup plate features the Soule House at Plimoth Plantation, with a border design of trailing arbutus. If you'd like one (or several), they are available by mail for $7.00. Postage is $1.50 for the first plate and .75 for each additional plate. Any profits go to the Col. John Soule Scholarship fund. Make checks payable to Soule Kindred, Inc. and send your order to Mrs. Francis G. Soule, Jr., 27 Windswept Drive, RR 3, Sandwich, MA 02563.
