CHARLES W. SOULE POLICE BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION OF HERKIMER

Reported by Chief Karl W. Gunther of the Herkimer (New York) Police Department

We formed an association in the Herkimer police department in 1937 and have carried it on. This was named after a member of the department who was drowned in a fishing accident at Candarago Lake, Richfield Springs, New York just forty years ago - 12 Jun 1928. I am the only active member left who worked with him although another fellow who was with him at the time is now retired.

Charles Soule and I worked to-gether for about two years. He was six feet one or two inches tall, about 185 lbs and straight as could be. Certainly, he was a nice fellow to get along with and a good officer. Charles had a brother who worked on the force at one time but he is dead too. There was also a Clauson Soule in Herkimer, now deceased but leaving children now living locally.

Comment by Colonel John Soule, Family Historian

From his New York state death certificate and his Massachusetts birth record (421:95) we find that Charles William Soule was born at Otis, Berkshire County, Massachusetts on 3 Sep 1892, the son of Eugene & Elizabeth (Lewis) Soule. When he died at the age of 35 years, 9 months and 9 days he left a wife Ava (Myers) Soule living in Herkimer. Earlier Berkshire County research indicates that Charles William Soule was a great-grandson of Dr. Alden Soule (1779-1870), the progenitor of a large branch of the family. Presumably, Alden Soule was about 6th in line of descent from George Soule of the Mayflower but we've never been able to close this gap despite effort to that end. One correspondent offers unsupported tradition that his name actually was John Alden Soule, Jr. and that the marked gravestone of John Alden Soule, Sr. still stands in West Becket, Massachusetts. Hopefully, this marker will again be located and the connection established from the information thereon.

§ In our Kindred Newsletter we hope to acquaint our readers with various Soule activities and businesses. One of the more famous is the Soulé Steel Company, and we present the following article on it with their permission.

Looking Back . . .

55 YEARS AT SOULÉ

What do the Los Angeles Coliseum, the Convoir plant in San Diego, fence posts for Vietnam, Seattle's Space Needle and the Fairmont Towers in San Francisco have in common? Soulé Steel of course. They're all examples of the wide variety of products and services Soulé offers its customers today.

The Edw. L. Soulé Company

It wasn't always that way. Fifty-five years ago in 1911, Edw. L. Soulé, Sr. started his own business detailing and placing reinforcing steel bars. His office took up two small rooms in a downtown San Francisco building and the staff included two draftsmen and one stenographer. In 1921 Mr. Soulé incorporated to become the Edw. L. Soulé Company.

Since then, the staff has grown to include 1700 people and Soulé Steel has become larger and more diversified. The early history of Soulé is one of rapid changes. As the young firm grew, the offices and warehouse had to be moved several times to accommodate the need for more space. Other firms were added to the company, bringing with them new products and facilities which put Soulé into the Los Angeles reinforcing market.

Soulé grew so rapidly that when western building needs couldn't keep pace with the prospering firm, Mr. Soulé explored the Far Eastern market. By 1920 Soulé was doing as much as a million dollars a month in overseas business alone. Today we sell Soulé products to customers throughout the world.

Name Change in 1927

In 1927, the Edw. L. Soulé Company changed its name to the Soulé Steel Company, Inc. In the years that followed, despite the onset of the Depression, Soulé opened an office in Portland and acquired several other companies, one of which was a steel window business. In 1932 Soulé built a new office next to the warehouse which had been in operation since 1923 at our present location on Army Street.

The Soulé Steel Company weathered the Depression well compared to competitive firms. Retired former Corporate Secretary, Niles O. Millar, recalled recently that Soulé survived due to careful and conservative management. "We didn't over-extend ourselves," he said. "We made sure we had the payment before we shipped our steel."

At the 1939-40 International Exposition held in San Francisco, Soulé introduced a new steel fabricated house. Called the "Unibuilt Home" it was an outstanding attraction at the Fair. In the '50's Soulé manufactured prefabricated homes for Venezuela and later shipped prefabricated steel shelters to the South Korean Government after the Korean War.

During World War II, Soulé took on a new appearance when production was quickly converted to landing crafts, lighters and derrick boats for the Navy. Three of the coveted Army-Navy "E" awards were received for excellence in production.

Post War Years

After World War II Soulé entered the prefabricated building field. The famous Soulé designed "Utility Building" was the forerunner of the buildings our Steel Structures Division manufactures today.

In the '50's Soulé added new offices in Seattle and San Diego. Steel windows were changed to aluminum and Soulé entered the curtain wall business during the same period.

On July 20, 1959 a lifetime dream came true for Edw. L. Soulé, Sr. On that day the first reinforcing bar was rolled at the Dominguez mill. "We are now in a position to offer our own steel to the contractor as well as fabricate and erect it," said Edw. L. Soulé, Sr., Board Chairman.

The years that followed have, of course, brought more changes. Product lines were organized into divisions, and offices were added in Fresno and Salt Lake City. In 1964 a continuous casting system (curved type), the first of its kind in the United States, was installed at the mill. Color anodizing facilities were added in San Francisco and a Special Products Division was established to sell mill products.

Looking back recently on the company's progress Lee Soulé, President said, "The past 55 years at Soulé have been filled with challenges, successes and always steady growth. We look forward to an even brighter future serving the building needs of the West."

In 1923, this warehouse was built on Army Street in San Francisco. The office was added in 1932. This is approximate area where the cafeteria is located today.

Attending the meeting were District Sales Managers, Product Managers, and Department Heads and Supervisory Personnel from the San Francisco office.

THE FIRST 50 YEARS -- OUR COMPANY HISTORY

"We are objectively moving ahead!"

These recent words of Edw. L. Soule, Chairman of the Board, could summarize the story -- past, present and future -- of the large and essential industry which is Soule Steel Company today. From a humble start in 1911, our company has grown to be a leading Western manufacturer and supplier of metal products, with plants in five major cities and offices throughout the West.

This pattern of progress started with a young man, some wet ink, $80 and a knack for engineering. The young man was Edward Soule, the wet ink was on his university diploma and the $80 and engineering talent were what he brought with him when seeking a job in San Francisco back in 1904.

Mr. Soule was hired by a consulting engineer, John B. Leonard, and soon was plunged into the complicated task of designing structures using a brand new type of construction: steel-reinforced concrete. So little was known of this method that he frequently had to work from reference books in French and German and then personally go into the field to supervise and school the workmen in the correct installation of the reinforcing bars.

From this came both experience and opportunity. In 1911, the first Soule enterprise was formed, the Edw. L. Soule Co., distributors of reinforcing steel commodities. With a pair of small rooms in the Monadnock Building as an office and a staff of two -- a draftsman and a stenographer -- Mr. Soule launched a business which included designing, fabrication and installation. A small lot on Natoma Street between Third and Fourth Streets was his factory-warehouse site.

The fledgling firm prospered, despite such handicaps as a shortage of capital and sometimes uncertain steel supply. In two years the company moved into a building with an overhead crane and the staff had increased to eight. When Western building needs couldn't keep pace with the growing firm, Mr. Soule explored the Far Eastern market and by 1920 was doing as much as a million dollars a month in overseas business alone.

Growth demanded more room for expansion, so the present site on Army Street was acquired and construction of our present headquarters plant started. Here is the San Francisco plant as it looked just after completion, in 1924.

THE WAR YEARS 1942 - 1945

THE POST WAR YEARS - PROGRESS IN PRODUCTS AND PROJECTS

The history of our Company is marked by contributions of honored and dedicated employees. In this San Francisco Plant product strength demonstration are pictured C. H. Peterson, second from left, Chief Engineer, until his death in 1955, and Mr. Frank Kullmer, far right, Vice President-Engineering, long time Soulé executive who died in Europe while on Company business this year. The others are Herm Steter, far left, Production Engineer, and John Herzog, center, today's Assistant District Manager at San Francisco.

Soulé Buildings (today, we call them Soulé Structures), were introduced by the Company after the War. Pictured here is one of the first major projects, the Lenkurt Electric Company in San Carlos.

building was erected at Division and Potrero Streets, but this, too was soon outgrown. In 1923 the firm expanded into the present Army Street quarters, handling a wide range of steel and fabricated steel products. That same year Soulé acquired the American System of Reinforcing of California, Inc., in Los Angeles, and also that company's warehouse in Torrance.

Two years later the Concrete Engineering Company of California became a wholly-owned subsidiary. This move, plus the acquisition of patent-rights on column clamps, metal forms and accessories and a franchise to act as distributor for the Consolidated Expanded Metal Companies of Wheeling, West Virginia, rounded out the Soulé line of steel products.

Parent and subsidiary companies were merged into our present firm, the Soulé Steel Company, in 1927. An office and warehouse were built in Portland, Oregon, in 1929. Still expanding despite the onset of the Depression, Soulé Steel entered the steel window and door field in 1930 with the acquisition of the United States Metal Products Company of San Francisco and the L. G. Bradfield Company of Los Angeles.

As our company grew, so grew the monuments to its work and to its workers. Imposing edifices, made possible by reinforcing steel from Soulé, stand as landmarks throughout the West: the supporting piers of the graceful Golden Gate bridge, the sweeping approaches to the Bay Bridge, the towering Russ and Shell Buildings in San Francisco's financial district, the ultra-modern Statler Hotel in Los Angeles, the swank Biltmore and Ambassador Hotels, the Los Angeles Coliseum, the Memorial Stadium in Berkeley, and the Los Angeles City Hall are but a few.

But of the multitude of Soulé projects, the most momentous is the fleet of naval craft turned out during the grim war years. In both design and production technique, Soulé's landing barges became a standard for others to emulate. Lighters and derrick boats were other types of war material which flowed from our production lines in record time.

When the war was won, the men and women of Soulé turned to new fields as the steady expansion continued. Today, Soulé Steel melts, rolls, and fabricates and does field installation of reinforcing steel, electric welded fabric and spirals. We lease, install and remove concrete-joint steel forms, including the supporting centering. We manufacture, distribute and install standard steel buildings, metal lath, steel studs and accessories, steel and aluminum doors and windows, window and curtain wall for residential, industrial and monumental construction. Also, we fabricate and distribute expanded metal and grating. We maintain large engineering staffs at our several offices. Diversification came to the company in 1959 when we introduced Mosaica, a new decorative facing material for exterior and interior walls, counter tops and ceilings. Our annual production capacity for these items of construction is unrivaled on the Pacific Coast.

How did Soulé Steel obtain this position of pre-eminence in the industry? "By beating competition with clever ideas," says Mr. Soulé, "by offering the best in engineering designs and execution, by having better salesmen and executives, by relying on skilled employees who have a pride in their work."

These rules which have served so well in the past will also govern the future -- for which Soulé Steel is constantly planning. Advancement of the individual and of the company is as much a product of our firm as rebars and windows. And this advancement will continue as long as there is a system of free enterprise to make it possible.

MHS Drama and Glee Clubs To Present "Where's Charley?"

"Where's Charley?", a musical comedy by Frank Loesser, available from members of the Melrose High School Drama and Glee Clubs on May 10 and 11 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Tickets of admission are cast and at the door prior to each performance.

The locale is at Oxford, England, and the time at the turn of the century. Delightful humor, mixed with a generous portion of youth under the tutelage of the middle aged, colored by the period costumes of the time and many memorable moments with popular melodies makes the show exciting.

The part of Charley, as originally portrayed by Ray Bolger, is taken by Scott Ridlon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Guy Ridlon, Jr. The role of Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez is being played by Martha Soule, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Soule, and the role of Sir Francis Chesney is portrayed by John Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Morris, Jr.

The Melrose High School Orchestra, under the baton of Theodore K. Leutz, will be introduced in their new role of accompanist to the performers, assisted by Mrs. Clare S. Wood at the piano. The stage scenery is under the guidance of Fred Bush who has exten-

Library Patrons Can Find
Many Secrets of the Sea

Frontiers are fast disappearing -- the west went during the last century and space is being conquered in this century. Yet there is another frontier that is yielding up its secrets -- the sea. Granted there isn't the fanfare for it as for our space program but, nonetheless, it is vital and fascinating in its own right.

Gardner Soule in his "The Ocean Adventure" says for the first time the way is open for man to reach the depths of the sea. In this comprehensive and fascinating account he tells of the latest underseas discoveries, and their military, commercial and scientific applications.

Dear Editor:

At a time when our nation is shocked and saddened for the second time in eight weeks by the senseless murder of a leader fighting for social justice and better education for all, when for the second time in eight weeks the ugly face of ignorance, prejudice and hate in the U.S. is placed before the entire world, we must all be aware of a need for improvements in our society.

At such a time we must all give serious thought to our society's needs: true justice for all, truly equal opportunity for all, truly adequate education for all.

At such a time I am sure the Mayor and other City Officials must have doubts as to the wisdom of trying to decrease the educational effort in Melrose, which is already well below the average in dollars spent for school systems our size in Massachusetts: (Average 1968 School Budget increase - 15 percent, Melrose School Budget increase - 10.4 percent).

At such a time we should perhaps seek areas where we can increase our educational efforts and thereby decrease the trend toward destructive outbreaks in the years ahead. For violent outbreaks are not limited to other states and other cities — in recent weeks we have seen violent outbreaks right here in Melrose.

We do not have all the answers, but certainly one answer lies in an increase rather than a decrease in our educational effort. As recent events have proven, prejudice and violence feed on ignorance, and the only cure for ignorance is education.

Sincerely yours,

The three-page article describes in detail how television has been developed and used extensively at the College of Medicine for consultation, patient care, teaching and research.

It describes, too, the television system which links the DeGoesbriand and Mary Fletcher units of the Medical Center Hospital of Vermont. The two doctors were instrumental in the development of this system.

Two-way transmission of pictures, including X rays, plus voice communication over the same cable are features of this system.

The two doctors look ahead to more extended usage of the system. One such aim is to link the medical center with Porter Hospital in Middlebury and Copley Hospital in Morrisville, so that full-time radiological services could be offered these hospitals which are now provided part-time coverage from the medical center.

Fences A Must At Swim Pools To Protect Life

BURLINGTON — With the movement of the old swimming hole from the shady brook to the back yard, the old song, "Don't Fence Me In" has changed to "Fence Me Out!"

Of the 472 pool drownings reported in 1965, 246 occurred in pools at private residences, including permanent in-ground pools, portable or surface wading pools, and decorative or fish pools, reports Phyllis Soule, Extension home economist at the University of Vermont. The majority of the victims were children under five years of age.

Why do these unnecessary drownings occur? The three major causes, she says, are temporary lack of qualified adult supervision, absence of adequate environmental protection, and total inability of victims to float or swim.

All swimming pools — both portable and permanent — should be surrounded by some kind of fence protection to keep wandering youngsters from accidentally falling in, Mrs. Soule emphasizes. Such a fence should be at least six feet high and imbedded in the ground so small children cannot crawl under.

Children are also good climbers, so frame the fence on the inside. And be sure to check on buildings around the pool area upon which children could climb to get inside the fence.

When you aren't able to supervise your children keep the gate locked, she warns. An unlocked gate is a temptation to a young child, and if anything happens, even to a trespasser, the owner may be judged liable.

Small portable wading pools should be emptied and stored safely immediately after use, as children can drown in a small amount of water, she notes. Larger pools of this type require the same protection as the permanent pool.

The majority of home pools where drownings occurred were owned by the victim's family, Mrs. Soule concludes. Protect your children against such accidents by teaching so summer will be a happy one. Teach them how and where to swim, and help them understand the potential dangers.

Last year, the camp was used by 599 boys, with every campsite available being filled every weekend throughout the year! The camp subcommittee has issued a report recommending that the following repairs and additions be made as soon as possible: A new Dock, The addition of two latrines, a 30 x 60 storage building, seven new hot water showers, a new tractor, and a suitable living quarters for a resident camp director.

THE RIDLON STORY

By Colonel John Soule

As most of our readers know, the late Reverend Gideon Thomas W. Ridlon was the author of a Soule genealogy entitled "Contribution to the History, Biography and Genealogy of the Families Named SOLE, SOLLY, SOULE, SOWLE, SOLIS with other Forms of Spelling from the Eighth Century to the Present with notes on Collateral Families both Foreign and American". This was published in 1926 by the Journal Press of Lewiston, Maine. In genealogical circles, this two volume work is ordinarily referred to as "Ridlon". Members of SOULE KINDRED have advised us that Ridlon had been loaned but had failed to return original and irreplaceable family records. Probably due to his advanced age at the time, his book contains much garbled information, numerous erroneous assumptions and he apparently carelessly omitted many facts which are reported to have been furnished him in the form of original documents. Your Family Historian has made serious efforts to recover the Reverend Ridlon's files of correspondence and Soule family records which he obviously accumulated over a long period of years. If we could recover old family bibles, letters and other personal records, it would give us great satisfaction to extract the essential information and to restore the originals to rightful owners. Never too optimistic, we now seem to have exhausted all readily apparent clues.

From his pension file in The National Archives and other sources we have learned that Gideon Thomas W. Ridlon was born in Hollis, York County, Maine 1 July 1841 and died at the same place on 4 December 1928. He served as a private in Company "C", 27th Maine Volunteer Infantry from 10 Sep 1862 to 17 Jul 1863 based on which he applied for and was granted a pension in 1921. An affidavit which he executed 11 Jul 1921 gave his address as West Buxton, Maine and Portland, Maine; his occupation "preaching and writing for the Press"; his residences since discharge as Hollis, Saco and Portland, Maine and Manchester, New Hampshire. At that time Ridlon claimed to be under medical care for partial paralysis of his right side, hernia, rheumatism, loco-ataxia and heart pressure, also want of breath and general senile weakness. In 1917 he solicited Soule documents by advertising giving as his address 159 Clark Street, Portland, Maine. His first wife was Ellen L. Sawyer of Hollis, Maine from whom he was divorced about 1890 for "statutory cause". He married second at Freedom, New Hampshire about 1892 or 1893 Martha H. Boudreau who claimed she left him about 1917 "due to insufficient support". She resided at 1930½ Park Avenue, Los Angeles, California when she claimed and received Ridlon's Civil War pension. She resided there until 17 May 1939 when she removed to 1401 Echo Park Avenue where she died about 7 or 8 Jun 1939. She apparently left no heirs.

The records of the York County Probate Court at Alfred, Maine, where the Ridlon will is on file, show that heirs-at-law and next of kin were Martha Ridlon, widow, residence unknown; Annie D. Whitney of Harrison, a daughter; Gideon T. Ridlon, Jr. of Worcester, a son; and Dr. Magnus Ridlon, another son. Under the will, a Miss Lord, daughter of Ray Lord of Kezar Falls was given "all the books stacked on the floor of my library, except what I have given in the fourth clause to Magnus G. Ridlon." The will also says "I give and bequeath unto Eugene C. Carll of Buxton, Maine, all my finished and unfinished manuscripts" and provides the residue of the estate to go to Edwin F. Ridlon of Hollis, Maine. The clerk of the York County Probate Court expressed the opinion that the material we were seeking went to Eugene C. Carll, Miss Lord or Edwin F. Ridlon, unless they were destroyed. Edwin F. Ridlon, who was a brother, is now deceased and we have been unable to locate him, his heirs, Miss Lord or Eugene C. Carll.

A Mrs. Henry Waterhouse of Hollis Center, Maine and one of the older residents of Hollis tells us that she was a neighbor of Ridlon's at the time of his death. He apparently lived alone and kept to himself most of the time. Unfortunately, she had no knowledge of the disposition of his effects.

Finally, we were able to locate the widow of son Magnus Ridlon, Mrs. Adelia T. Ridlon who is now living at Kezar Falls, Maine. She has advised us in a recent communication "My husband received no books, bibles or other papers from Rev. Ridlon at his death. We were told that all his personal papers etc were actioned off - to whom we don't know."

If this information is correct, it would appear that there is still a possibility that this treasure trove will turn up some where some day. However, we are at a loss to find another clue worthy of tracing.

Q U E S T I O N S and A N S W E R S

By Colonel John Soule, Historian

- Q. Upon the death of my grandmother four years ago, I inherited all her old family photographs. Among them was a picture taken at Lindahl Studio in Tacoma, Washington. On the back is written the name "Orin Leroy Soule" and the date "7 years 17 August 1896" which I take to mean that Orin was seven years old on that date. Can you give me any information regarding the above?
- A. Perhaps a mere coincidence but we do have record of one ORIN L. SOULE (1842-1920), a Union Army veteran from the Civil War. He was born and died in Maine but his Pension File in the National Archives mentions a grandson aged 17 in 1907. Unfortunately, that grandson is not named. Our correspondent in Tacoma helpfully and graciously reports calling all of the families named SOULE now in Tacoma but none were connected with Orin Leroy Soule; contact with cemeteries in Tacoma and nearby Puyallup disclose that he did not die there or at least wasn't buried there; check of old city directories shows he was listed as single in 1910 but married with wife named Myrtle in 1911, continuously called "laborer" until 1920 but "Sec. Engineer Operator" in that year which was the last in which he appeared. Our correspondent has asked the Tacoma News Tribune to put in a notice querying old timers to see if anyone knows what happened to Orin and Myrtle; also suggests that he may have worked for the Northern Pacific Railroad or one of the other railroads serving Tacoma and that communication with the railroads may possibly result in their knowledge of where he went after 1920.
- Q. What is the predominant generation from George Soule of The Mayflower?
- A. We aren't quite sure what you mean by this question. However, we do know of a few in the 8th Generation. So far, no one has appeared on our horizon as 13th Generation but we'll probably have the privilege of reporting that one of these days. Older adults generally are of the 9th and 10th Generations with the latter probably the most common; younger adults are usually of the 10th and 11th Generations. Please try us again if this doesn't answer your query.
- Q. I know that Aaron Soule married Mary Wadsworth. Do you have a record who her parents were and when they came to America?
- A. Duxbury and Pembroke Vital Records establish the fact that Mary Wadsworth was born at Duxbury, Plymouth County, Mass., on 18 Dec 1668; also that she was the daughter of John Wadsworth and Abigail Andrews who were married at Duxbury on 25 Jul 1667. It is a bit beyond our current scope to explore further into their background so we are unable to answer the last half of your question.
- Q. Can anyone give us information on GEORGE SOULE, married at Wardsboro, Vermont on 24 February 1823 to HARIET KELLY. They had sons Elvius and Eugene, daughter Rose. Harriet died 8 February 1861 in Walworth County Wisconsin. We need birth and death dates for George, also vital statistics on parents.

(Some of the known information above came from Col. John Soule, other was obtained from cemetery visits and relatives - but we're stuck on the questions listed above. Anyone having information should write to the Soule Kindred or Mr. R.P. Nichols, 289 Lamplite Lane S.E., Cedar Rapids, Iowa 52403.)

Lineages accepted by the Society of Mayflower Descendants since publication of the current Mayflower Index (closing date 1 Jan 1960).

* Residents of Tiverton, R.I. who may possibly be parents of the following contemporaries whose births are fixed at Tiverton but not recorded at that place:

David Sowl born at Tiverton on 10 Jun 1758 and died at Manlius, Onondaga County, N. Y. on 6 Feb 1840 per his Pension File in National Archives.

William Sowl apparently a brother of the above who was born ca 1760, also at Tiverton.

Jonathan Sowl who served in the same company (from Tolland, Conn.) during the American Revolution with the two listed above and presumed either to have been another brother or father of the above. No clue has been found as to either the date or place of his birth or death.

John Sowl apparently a contemporary of David and William Sowl above and associated with them in and around Wilbraham, Massachusetts after the Revolution. His service in the American Revolution was from Massachusetts and his service record shows he was aged 21 in 1779.

Edward Sowl another contemporary and Wilbraham associate; described as "of Tolland, Connecticut" when acquiring land in Wilbraham, Mass. on 6 Apr 1778.

Jemima Sowl who married at Tolland, Connecticut in 1774 JAMES HAMMOND

Josiah Sowle who served 1776-1781 with R.I. troops.

Silas Sowle who married at Dartmouth, 25 Oct 1773 Mercy Sherman
